DETAILED ACTION

1. The EPO Search Report for EP 05 25 1482 listed on the submission under MPEP 609 D has been crossed off, as no copy is present in the PTO electronic file wrapper.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-7, 12-18, 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a and e) as being anticipated by Huang (U.S. 2004/0043189 A1).

Art Unit: 1772

See Figures 3 and 6, which show films or forming surfaces used to make films that have large apertures that are bisected by lower members that form smaller apertures that open into larger apertures.

4. Claims 1-6, 12-17, 22-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Curro et al. (U.S. 6,452,063 B1).

See Figures 18 and 19, which show films or forming surfaces used to make films that have large apertures that are bisected by lower members that form smaller apertures that open into larger apertures.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1772

6. Claims 7-11, 18-21 and 27-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Huang (U.S. 2004/0043189 A1) or Curro et al. (U.S. 6,452,063).

The references teach three dimensional top sheets with large apertures that are divided into smaller apertures using lower cross members, which divide the larger apertures as noted in the above rejections. The instant invention claims variation in hole size and film thickness as well as use of the films in absorbents. Both references teach use of the top sheets in absorbents as well as variation in aperture shape and film thickness. It would thus be obvious to vary these features as claimed in view of the teachings in each reference, depending on the final application absent unexpected results.

7. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422

F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

8. Claims 1-7, 12-18, 22-27 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claim of U.S. Patent No. D501,553 S.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that the instant claim language describes the claim of the drawings of the sister design patent. Only a one way showing is needed as the instant application and the sister design patent have the same filing date.
